

ECONOMETRIC SOCIETY WINTER SCHOOL in DYNAMIC STRUCTURAL ECONOMETRICS (DSE)

Theme: Combining Structural Estimation with RCTs and Quasi-Experiments

The University of Hong Kong

December 8-13, 2025

Application deadline: September 30th, 2025

Decisions will be made: October 15th, 2025d

We are pleased to announce the next event in the sequence of Econometric Society schools in Dynamic Structural Econometrics. The DSE Winter School will provide early- and mid-stage PhD students with tools and hands-on computational training in formulating, solving, and estimating dynamic structural econometric models. The program will emphasize techniques with applications spanning multiple fields, including industrial organization, labor economics, public economics, health economics, development economics and economics of education. Further details, along with the course program and information on previous events, will be available on the DSE website <http://dseconf.org/dse2025hku>. The 2025 DSE winter school consists of four days of lectures and will run alongside the 2025 Dynamic Structural Econometrics Conference “Combining Structural Estimation with RCTs and Quasi-Experiments”, December 10-11, 2025.

While we especially encourage submissions within this theme, we invite and will consider submissions in all areas of structural econometrics and related fields. The submission deadline is September 30th

Invited speakers and lecturers for the 2025 DSE Winter School and Conference include:

- Victor Aguirregabiria (University of Toronto)
- Hanming Fang (University of Pennsylvania)
- Chao Fu (University of Wisconsin)
- Fedor Iskhakov (Australian National Univ.)
- Robert A. Miller (Carnegie Mellon University)
- Whitney K. Newey (MIT)
- John Rust (Georgetown University)
- Marc Rysman (Boston University)
- Bertel Schjerning (University of Copenhagen)
- Tang Srisuma (National Univ. of Singapore)

Interested students and presenters are invited to submit their applications at the DSE website

<http://dseconf.org>

Every applicant must be a member of the Econometric Society at the time of application. To join the Society, visit the Society homepage <http://www.econometricsociety.org>.

We hope to see you in Hong Kong in December 2025!
